Indian Army organizes Ex-Servicemen rally at Galuthi

JAMMU BULLETIN NEWS
JAMMU, NOV 21:

The Indian Army recently organized an Ex-Servicemen Rally at Galuthi, Rajouri district, reflecting its unwavering commitment to its retired fraternity. This event aimed to honor veterans, Veer Naris and their families while addressing their grievances and fostering camaraderie. The rally witnessed participation from numerous ex-servicemen, widows and dependents who were provided a platform to resolve pressing issues such as pension anomalies, medical benefits and welfare schemes. Various assistance booths were set up, offering services related to the Ex-Servicemen Contributory Health Scheme (ECHS), documentation, Aadhaar-related issues and banking support. Medical and dental specialists were also available to deliver free consultations and medicines. The Indian Army recognized the sacrifices made by the veterans and pledged to uphold their welfare. They reiterated the Indian Army's commitment to ensuring quality healthcare, dignity, and timely grievance redressal for all attendees. Veterans and their families had the opportunity to engage directly with Indian Army and civilian authorities, fostering a deeper connection and addressing long-pending issues.

The rally exemplified the Indian Army's dedication to strengthening its bond with its retired personnel, ensuring their contributions to the nation are never forgotten. Events like these not only resolve practical concerns but also serve as a testament to the enduring respect and gratitude the Armed Forces have for their veterans. This initiative highlights the Indian Army's holistic approach to honoring its legacy while looking after those who have served the nation selflessly.
